Whole Home Renovation in Three Phases

1404 Bicentennial Parkway, Ann Arbor

This family home renovation updated the kitchen, grand staircase, bathrooms, laundry, mudroom, basement, and primary suite. We focused on craft and durability, using timeless materials to ensure lasting beauty. The project spanned three phases, with our clients living on-site throughout.

Phase one renovated the basement into a family retreat, adding a kitchenette, theater, rec room, and bathroom. In phase two, we rebuilt the staircase and installed white oak engineered hardwood on the main floor, updating the kitchen with new cabinetry, a large island, quartz countertops, and appliances. Phase three continued the hardwood upstairs, refreshed the family bath, and fully renovated the primary suite.
